

Chandra invited to Indian course

Chattanooga sleep specialist Dr. Anuj Chandra will be part of an international faculty for National Sleep Medicine Course, which is being held in India today and Sunday.

Dr. Anuj Chandra

This is the first national course in sleep medicine to be held in India for physicians.

Dr. Chandra is one of three U.S. physicians and five Indian physicians who will serve as faculty for the course. Fifty physicians from around India are expected to attend the course, at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) in New Delhi.

Dr. Chandra will teach courses on sleep-disordered breathing, cardiovascular complications of sleep apnea, and restless leg syndrome.
